

Enroll your baby in an autism study

The Baby Attention and Development study at USC is enrolling infant* siblings of children with autism for an in-home research study. Researchers will periodically visit you and your infant in your home from birth to age 3 years to gather information about your infant's attention and social development. Each visit will last 1-2 hours.

Text "Home Study" to 803-923-0060 or scan the QR code for more information.

* Infants must be born full-term and younger than 3 months.

Learn more at esdlab.com